

General Press Release

18.02.2008

“We’re kicking it up a notch”

A-Cappella Choir workshop for women

Each female singer who desires to improve „a notch“ gets the opportunity: Sweet Adelines Germany is hosting an a cappella chorus workshop for women at the youth hostel in Stuttgart from 1 – 3 May 2009. Top class coaches from the international barbershop scene offer miscellaneous classes. The main focus is vocal production on every level as well as unified sound in chorus singing, Major emphases are body alignment and breathing, resonance and articulation, a sense for rhythm and making the impossible possible. The classes are held in small groups.

The learned techniques are immediately implemented in two large workshop choruses made up of all the participants on site. The aspect of a unit sound will be worked on and another focal point will be the visual expression. In addition special training for choreographers and chorus directors will be offered. On Saturday evening a show will be presented by all participating choruses and quartets. Lots of fun, meeting new friends and little sleep are guaranteed. The workshop ist the ideal starting point for women who like to sing and want to try something new, but the „old hands“ will be able to discover new aspects and improve their singing. Reading music or other previous music knowledge is not required.

For further information and registration go to www.sweetadelines.de or by phone +497154/1550064 (Silke Rusch).

Editor:

Karen Holst

Heinrich Wothe Strasse 14

55122 Mainz

karen.holst@t-online.de